A Big Establishment.

Although Florence does not lay claim to any metropolitan pretensions at this time, still the amount of its commercial transactions reaches a figure that looks suspiciously large to those not acquainted with the broad expanse of country supplied by its local merchants.

From January 1st to September 1st, one firm alone - Mr. J. D. Rittenhouse - had half a million pounds of goods hauled to his several stores from the railroad station at Casa Grande, and that time covered the smallest portion of the year.

One can judge something of the vast magnitude of his trade by visiting his well-appointed store on Main street. There will be found almost any article in the line of groceries, hardware, miscellaneous goods, dry goods, clothing, fancy goods and ladies' wear that one can ask for.

It is complete in all its details and six large auxiliary store rooms are required to care for the bulk goods from which the main store is replenished daily.

In large cities the commercial houses run chiefly to special lines of goods covering a wide range of quality and character, in extent far beyond the capacity of general merchandising establishments, and it is only by such houses that the variety carried by Mr. Rittenhouse is excelled.

There is no demand of this market, however, that he is not able to supply at all times - wauhours permitting. During the past week an immense quantity of new goods have been received by this house, embracing all the newest designs in styles and materials, fresh from the markets of Europe and America.

The ladies will be especially pleased with the display of handsome millinery goods, dress goods and the thousand and one articles for feminine use and adornment. Nothing is old or shop worn, but everything has just come from the hands of the manufacturers unblemished.

The little folks too, have been thoughtfully provided for and any age or sex can be fitted out in handsome attire at an insignificant cost, while the stalwart men, from the dude to the daring prospector or cowboy, can find just the kind of apparel they want.

The same general characteristics prevail throughout this mammoth establishment and every separate department is complete in variety and quality. The housekeeper has no want that cannot be supplied from this house; the miner and prospector can find their complete outfit, the farmer can buy the implements of his calling, and the mechanic can secure the tools he requires.

Everything, from a needle to a steam engine, from a spool of thread to the most elaborate completed garment; from wholesome spuds to the choicest imported condiments; from elegant queensware to a box of pills - all these and more are supplied from this apparently inexhaustible storehouse of necessities and luxuries.

And what is fully as important to the public, is the fact that the prices are extremely reasonable. Mr. Rittenhouse personally selected the goods and secured the lowest possible rates, and advantages of his close bargains will be given to the consumers.

It may be incidentally remarked, in this connection, that Mr. Rittenhouse is one of the most thorough, careful and attentive business men in the Territory. He was literally brought up in a commercial atmosphere and designing jobbers find extreme difficulty in imposing upon him in the slightest degree.

Therefore his customers can rely upon absolute purity in the quality of all goods sold. His success in a material way can be attributed to his untiring knowledge of business and a sterling integrity in all his dealings. His immense trade is good evidence of those facts, and as it is constantly increasing it also shows that a discriminating public appreciates such qualities. His employes are all trustworthy gentlemen; attentive and accommodating, and with such efficient aids there is no question of giving complete satisfaction customers.

Mr. Julius O. Fischer formerly metallurgist of the Ray Copper Company at Riverside in this county, died of perforation of the bowels at the hospital in Tucson last Saturday. His wife and child arrived from Los Angeles in time to attend the funeral. About a year ago Mr. Fischer accepted a position in charge of the lixivation works at Chihuahua, Mexico, but returned last week quite sick, and upon reaching Tucson he was compelled to go to the hospital. Mr. Fischer had many friends both in Riverside and Florence, all of whom will learn with extreme regret of his ultimately taking off.

Dr. King's New Discovery is guaranteed to cure Coughs, Colds, Bronchitis, Asthma, Chest and every affection of Throat, Gout and Lungs. Trial Bottles Free at J. D. Rittenhouse.

Quite a number of lots in the Western Addition were sold this week, and the demand increases. The tract is pleasantly situated and it is only necessary for any one looking for an investment to see it to convince him of its superior advantages. The price asked for lots is now exceedingly low, but it will advance in keeping with the general increase in values before long. Now is the time to purchase, while good bargains can be had. Messrs. Oury & Guild have the management of these fine properties.

She has also rooms or lodgers and free baths for her patrons. Strangers will find everything comfortable, clean and satisfactory.

Messrs. David and Robert Anderson, the original discoverers of the Deer Creek gold fields, were in town this week. They have devoted several years of hard work to their claims at Deer Creek and deserve the good fortune that will eventually repay them for their patient toil.

Deputy Sheriff P. Boscha deserves a special credit for the bright material he selected from Pinal and Silver King for trial jurors, on the special venire placed in his hands. They were a noble lot of men.

Grand Jury Report.

FLORENCE, October 8.

To the Hon. W. W. Porter Justice of the Second Judicial District of the Territory of Arizona.

The grand jury impaneled for the second Judicial District of the Territory of Arizona, in and for the county of Pinal, begs to present the following report: We have considered the various charges placed before us and have found the following bills:

3 for assault with intent to commit murder. 1 for assault, ignored. 5 for grand larceny. 4 for robbery. 1 for defacing car marks. 2 for restoring and delaying officers in serving legal process. 1 for seduction. 1 for presentment.

The proper committees were appointed and their reports which are attached hereto were accepted by the grand jury. The grand jury recommend that especial attention be given to the report of the Committee on public schools, superintendent shall cause a census to be taken for school districts 3 and 7. And recommends that a line be surveyed and monumented from Willow Springs to a point 100 yards west of Mrs. Charles Whitlow's house.

The grand jury, from our investigations of the Indian affairs, believe that Lieut. Watson, of the United States Army, aided and assisted in the escape from the officers of the law, Es-kin-in-zim and other Indians charged with crime committed in this county.

Thanking the Court and District Attorney for courtesies extended we herewith submit report. G. A. STONE, Foreman grand jury.

COMMITTEE ON SHERIFF'S OFFICE ETC. To the Foreman, etc.: We have carefully examined the records, jail, and everything connected with the office, and find the same in good order. We recommend a new jail to be built in the center of the jail yard for the more secure keeping of prisoners; or, that a double or upper set of cages be built on top of the present cages in the old jail. We further recommend that the sheriff be furnished with new leg-irons, as the present ones in use are very insecure and valueless.

We find two patients in the hospital and everything looks clean and in good condition. Respectfully, W. M. SELLERS, Chairman. W. C. TRUMAN, C. W. TILMAN.

RECORDER AND DISTRICT ATTORNEY. To the Foreman: We, your committee appointed to examine the County Recorder's and District Attorney's offices, beg leave to report we find the books and records kept in a neat and orderly manner. We suggest the floor and walls of the vault of the County Recorder be repaired to prevent dust accumulating upon the records therein. R. H. CHAMBERLAIN, W. M. SELLERS, A. G. WILLIAMS.

TREASURER'S OFFICE. To the Foreman: Your committee appointed to examine the Treasurer's office have done so and find the books and accounts in good order. We find $5,171.11 in cash on hand, which corresponds with the balance on his cash book. C. W. CULVER, T. M. DAULTON, M. R. CHAMBERLAIN.

PROBATE JUDGE. To the Foreman: Your committee appointed to examine the offices of the Probate Judge and Supt. of Public Schools, have done so, and find the books and everything in general in the Probate Judge's office kept in a neat and orderly manner. In the office of the Supt. of schools we find false returns from District No. 7, children's names appearing on the list whom we know do not reside in their respective districts. We recommend that the Supt. of schools be instructed to have the census of District No. 7 and District No. 3 re-taken by different census marshals. T. M. DAULTON, AARON MASON, C. W. CULVER.

JUSTICE OF COURTS. To the Foreman: We, the undersigned committee, appointed to examine the condition of the Justices courts, beg leave to report as follows: In the courts of Judge Miller and Bo J. Whiteside we find the books and papers kept in a neat and correct manner, except in Justice Whiteside's court we find that in certain cases where the defendants plead guilty that he has charged a fee $4.25, when according to law it should not be only $3. We recommend that the case be referred to the Board of Supervisors. AARON MASON, W. P. BARBRICK, W. H. DAVIS.

BOARD OF SUPERVISORS. To the Foreman: Your committee on County Clerk and Board of Supervisors report that we found everything apparently in good order and condition. ROBERT A. IRION, J. G. KEATING, W. J. ARNETT.

MAMMOTH NEWS. The chloriders are doing well in the vicinity of the Mammoth camp and considerable fine ore it being shipped. About six miles west of camp, at the Maggora camp, Andrew Damm and George Frazer are working a claim belonging to Norman McKenzie, with profitable results.

Charles Finch is working a claim in the Bunker Hill district, fifteen miles east of Mammoth and shipped a lot of high grade ore to the Tucson sampler last week which netted him handsome returns.

The Mohawk mine at Mammoth, the first eastern extension of that mine, owned by John Bauer, Andrew Damm, George Frazer and Mr. Robinson, has been bonded for a good sum. It is regarded as a fine prospect.

The Moving Star claim, at Mammoth owned by Frank Schultz and John Bauer was wanted by the same parties, but its owners refused to bond for the price offered. It is a fine claim with a big body of ore, and has fully a thousand dollars' worth of development work done.

Captain J. W. Johnston, Superintendent of the Mammoth, has gone east. He expects to return within a month and will then put on a big force to thoroughly open the mine to a depth of several hundred feet. Everybody about the camp feels satisfied that a big mining boom is soon to strike that section, and will hold on for the happy time that the future promises.

An Unexpected Confession.

During the trial of Robert Dunn, last Tuesday, the defendant gave testimony that puts an unexpected phase on the assault made upon Mr. N. White last August when the latter gentleman was shot through the neck.

Mr. Dunn was under examination by Hon. A. C. Baker, his attorney and the report of his testimony taken from the short hand notes of Court Stenographer W. L. Pinney, was as follows: Q.—You know yourself to be the defendant in this action? A.—Yes, Sir.

Q.—You are aware of the fact that you are not required or compelled under the law to make a statement of this? A.—Yes, Sir.

Q.—Well, now, Mr. Dunn, just state to the jury the truth of the whole matter—just how it occurred.

A.—That statement I made here before, there was not much truth in it. We had some fellows into it that were innocent. I thought they were going to hang me up. There was a man outside with a shotgun, and I was chained up to the safe. I went up town and heard men talking that were strangers to me, and I was afraid they were going to string me up. I told this thinking it would be better for myself.

I was the man that did the shooting! This unlooked-for confession took everyone by surprise and while it left no other alternative for the jury than to bring in a verdict of guilty, the hearing of this testimony upon the case of Dozier, already convicted and awaiting sentence, and James Brash, whose trial has not yet taken place, was the subject of much comment. If this confession be true what becomes of the states' evidence furnished by D. D. Baker, alias Ben. Docker, upon which his own skirts were cleared, and the crime fastened upon the three others now in jail?

From Pinal the following persons were noticed in attendance on the District Court this week: Joe Duer, J. P. Rutledge, Walter E. Shanley and brother J. B. Willey, J. M. McCaffrey, J. D. Rogers, Wm. Steffy and R. H. Chamberlain.

Large assortment of Purses at Weedn & Meek's. Dan Stevens, or rather the stage company for which he is the manager, owns a dog that has acquired the manly vice of chewing tobacco and he enjoys a quid of fine-cut with a relish that is almost human. He will be fifteen years of age next March, if his life be not cut short by this species of dissipation before that time arrives. As a dog, he enjoys a wide circle of friends but his example to other dogs of more tender years is bad—very bad because of this one vice that is bearing him to an untimely grave.

Brass and Wooden Curtain Poles at Weedn & Meek's. Mr. Thos Davis, of the firm of H. S. Bridge & Co, 103 Montgomery street, San Francisco, visited Florence this week and took many orders for clothing. He has lots of warm personal friends in this place.

John Kerr, commonly called "Jack", the veteran stage driver whose run has for years been between Florence and Silver King, died yesterday morning with hemorrhage of the lungs and was buried at four o'clock the same day. He was about 65 years of age, but appeared to be strong and hearty. A sudden cold had produced a severe cough, during a paroxysm of which a blood vessel was likely ruptured, causing death. He was a native of Scotland, but for the past eighteen or twenty years he has been driving stage and was for many years employed by the El Paso Mail Line company, driving through Missouri, the Indian Territory, Kansas and Texas. It is said that he has a brother now residing in Los Angeles.
